Course Introduction

The Surf Life Saving SA Training Officer Course provides Surf Life Saving Club members the opportunity to obtain knowledge and skills that will assist in providing delivery of group and individual instruction, the demonstration of work skills and how to use existing learning resources in a safe and comfortable learning environment. Successful completion of this course and subsequent assessment tasks, entitles candidates to obtain the award of Training Officer in a chosen award.

Course Outcomes

- Organise your instruction and demonstration
- Conduct instruction and demonstration
- Check training performance
- Review personal training performance and finalise documentation
- Prepare, deliver and evaluate presentations
- Understand the principles of effective communication

Units of Competency

One successful completion of this course and the assessment tasks, you will achieve the following two (2) units of competency:

- TAEDL301 Provide work skill instruction
- BSBCMM401 Make a presentation

Pre-requisites

Candidates must fulfill the following requirements:

- Be a registered member of a SLSSA Club

To obtain the surf training officers award

To become a surf trainer in the award you wish to train in, once you have gained the two units of competency you will then be required to train a squad under the supervision of a qualified trainer in that award. Once that squad passes their assessment you will gain your Training Officers in that award.

Role of the Training Officer (once qualified)

The responsibility of the Training Officer is to facilitate training programs which motivate learners and enable them to achieve identified surf lifesaving awards.

Training Officers teach the skills and knowledge of our courses but do not make assessment decisions.

Please see the attached Training Officer position description for more information.
